Re: Our Client: Synergy Natural Resources, LLC

To Whom It May Concern:

As you are aware, on or about February 19, 2013, Double Crown Resources, Inc (DDCC) and the principals of Synergy Natural Resources, LLC (“Synergy”), entered into a Mutual Non-Disclosure Agreement (“N.D.A.”) regarding the design, production, financing and promotion of products relating to an intermodal system of aggregate transport of various products ranging from sand, aggregate, grain and multiple other applications (“Confidential Information”).

It appears the Mutual Non-Disclosure Agreement has been breached at multiple levels. Per Double Crown Resources, Inc (DDCC) “latest news,” it has announced on its website that it intends to develop the Confidential Technology using the Confidential Information, as follows:

Patent Protection

- Double Crown has applied for patent protection on an original and unique system designed to transport large capacity loads of aggregate commodities such as fracturing sand or agricultural products. Double Crown's system has been given the trade name of Transprop Agg.”

Double Crown Resources Files Patent Application for Aggregate Material Transport System (Marketwire, Thursday, Apr. 10, 2013)

Financing

- New projects include the design, development and production of the company's patent pending aggregate material transport system called Transprop Agg.

Double Crown Resources Receives Additional Private Placement Funding, 2013 Total Now Over $256,000 (Marketwire, Tuesday, Apr. 23, 2013)

Design, Development and Production

- River Town Ironworks, Inc. of Prairie de Chien, Wisconsin has “already completed engineering specifications and begun manufacturing work on the Transprop Agg which will be a universal configuration applicable to commercial use worldwide.”

Double Crown Resources Files Patent Application for Aggregate Material Transport System (Marketwire, Thursday, Apr. 10, 2013)

It is clear from the above statements alone that you are attempting to develop and manufacture the “Confidential Information” owned by Synergy Natural Resources, with whom you have a contractual obligation of confidentiality.

It further appears that the “Confidential Information” has been disclosed to a third party manufacturing company with the apparent intent of developing the “Confidential Information,” all in violation of the N.D.A. River Town Ironworks has been commissioned to reverse engineer or otherwise hypothecate Synergy’s “Confidential Information.”

Regarding River Town Ironworks, perhaps you are unaware of the N.D.A. signed by Double Crown. Enclosed is a copy of the N.D.A. for your review. It is our opinion that River Town Ironworks, in complicity with Double Crown, has violated the N.D.A. Please consult with your attorney regarding your rights, obligations and defenses.

Pursuant to paragraph 4 of the N.D.A., we request that you provide within seven (7) days from the date of this letter and on a confidential basis the complete engineering specifications and drawings that were prepared by or provided to River Town Ironworks, Inc. for our inspection.

The N.D.A. contains multiple liquidated remedies, including agreed temporary restraining order for any breach of the N.D.A. Synergy demands Strict Compliance with the N.D.A. from Double Crown Resources, Inc (DDCC) and River Town Ironworks, Inc.

Synergy has authorized this firm to fully and completely enforce the N.D.A. agreement. I look forward to your prompt response and the complete engineering specifications and drawings for our inspection (referenced above).

Sincerely,
BRENT COON & ASSOCIATES
